WELCOME TO ZOO MED LABORATORIES

A wise frog once said, "It's not easy being green." We relate to Kermit the Frog's sentiment in that we know how hard it is to commit to green values. Throughout our history, we've consciously made decisions to reduce our environmental impact while increasing quality and service to our customers. We're excited that we've been able to incorporate green values into every aspect of our business.

Our office and warehouses have electric forklifts, lunch tables made from recycled milk cartons, and 18 charging stations for the many employees who drive electric cars to work. We have eliminated petrochemical carpets, replacing them with floors made from sustainable bamboo.

We're proud to recycle over 200 tons of cardboard a year in our packaging, and we eliminated styrofoam inserts in many of our products. Our insects and fruit are packaged in steel cans, as steel is considered one of the most recyclable materials because its quality does not diminish as it's reused. We also shifted our food bottles to more eco-friendly packaging by making them from PET (plastic #1). PET is considered the most recyclable type of plastic, but to go further, 50% of the material used in our bottles is post-consumer recycled plastic (plastic that is reused after being recycled).

Our products reflect our green values in that over 50% are made in the USA, we transitioned from using chemical resin to plant-based resin in our décor, and we've eliminated wheat and soy from several foods to reduce trace pesticides. Our natural décor items are sustainably harvested, and our Eco Carpet, food, and water dishes are made from 100% recycled plastic.

Even the animals in our greenhouse are folded into our green values plan. Our Turtle Nirvana greenhouse is home to about 30 species of reptiles and fish, and all aquatic animals are maintained on a recirculating water system. This efficiently cleans and reuses water instead of disposing of it. The greenhouse also uses renewable geothermal energy for heating and cooling, and we grow various fruits and plants, including papaya, figs, hibiscus, and grapevines. We use this organically grown produce to feed our animals, reduce the environmental impact of shipping, and reduce pesticide exposure from commercially available foods.

It's not easy being green, but we don't see how to do business any other way.

(Front Cover)

In 2023, Zoo Med's Animal Care team was thrilled to hatch an Albino Florida Box Turtle (Terrapene carolina bauri). As the name suggests, this small box turtle species is found in Florida, USA, and typically exhibits bright yellow markings on a dark background, giving it a striking beauty. This particular individual hatched and was lacking any pigmentation in its shell, eyes, or skin. Zoo Med has bred and hatched multiple generations of beautiful Florida box turtles over the years and couldn't be more excited to share photos of this unique animal!

BIOACTIVE SUBSTRATE KIT

TROPICAL BIOACTIVE SUBSTRATE KIT

This kit is the perfect foundation for your bioactive habitat! The term "bioactive" is used to describe a miniature ecosystem created in a terrarium or vivarium. In a functional bioactive habitat, small invertebrates (a.k.a. clean-up crew) break down waste from your pet to make nutrients available for live plants to consume. This incredible living network forms a balance that can reduce the maintenance of your habitat while enhancing its natural appearance. The right substrate mix is critical to a successful bioactive habitat. The contents of this kit were carefully selected to help your pets, plants, and clean-up crew collectively flourish. Includes enough substrate for a 10 gallon tank.

Includes:

- ReptiSoil™ (Item# RSS-4; pg. 16)
- Terrarium Moss (Item# CF2-S; pg. 18)
- Leaf Litter Substrate Topper (Item# CT-88; pg. 54)

WATER DISHES

REPTI ROCK RESERVOIR™

A deluxe reptile water dish with a 22 oz. (0.65 L) water reservoir. The large reserve provides constant fresh water, while the small basin discourages reptiles from fouling their water. Includes an insect guard which prevents insects and small lizards from entering the reservoir and getting stuck. Extra wide base prevents accidental tipping and spilling.

ITEM# RR-10

BIG & LITTLE DRIPPER™

Zoo Med's Drippers simulate natural rainfall and provide humidity for captive reptiles. The Dripper has a folding handle lid that allows you to suspend the drifter above the enclosure. Especially helpful for animals that do not readily drink standing water and instead drink dew from leaves (i.e., old world chameleons).

NEW - TERRARIUM PUMP

TERRA PUMP™ AQUATIC HABITAT DRAIN PUMP

Simplify water changes with Zoo Med's Terra Pump aquatic habitat drain pump! The powerful motor will drain most habitats in under 5 minutes and will refill with the same speed. The Terra Pump is engineered with side mounting suction cups at the intake line, so you can secure the device to the glass and have it auto shut off once you've drained to the desired level. When it's time to refill the habitat, you can avoid multiple trips with heavy buckets by placing the pump in a bucket of clean water and having it effortlessly refill your habitat. The pump has a "5 feet max head", which means it's powerful enough to deliver water into the habitat 5 feet above the reservoir it's pumping from. Works with freshwater or marine aquariums, paludariums, and turtle tanks.

ROCK HEATER

REPTICARE® ROCK HEATER

In nature, the sun beats down on rocks which hold heat. Many species of reptiles will take advantage of this heat during the day to help "heat-up" their digestive tract and facilitate food digestion. The ReptiCare® Rock Heater replicates this "heated stone" effect and is very useful for reptiles that eat large meals (ie: mice and rats) like Pythons, Boas, Monitor Lizards, Tegus, etc. This is a supplemental belly-heat source and correct ambient and basking temperatures need to be maintained in the terrarium at all times.

HEAT EMITTER

REPTICARE® INFRARED HEAT PROJECTOR PROFESSIONAL SERIES

Help your pet thermoregulate safely and efficiently with this deep-penetrating heat projector. This technology is the most natural way to bring sun-like heat into your pet's terrarium or paludarium. Zoo Med's ReptiCare® Infrared Heat Projector produces the same Infrared A and Infrared B wavelengths as the sun. These deep-penetrating wavelengths are energy-rich and make their way into an animal's body, warming them to their core and aiding in thermoregulation, digestion, egg development, and shedding. Your pet, and the rocks, décor, and substrate in their environment will all absorb these energy-rich IRa and IRb wavelengths. These items in their habitat will re-radiate heat back into their environment through convention (IRc), which will warm your pet's belly and the air above them, thereby increasing the ambient temperature of the enclosure. Use day or night as this infrared heat projector will not disrupt your pet's sleep cycle. 1-year manufacturer's warranty. When used appropriately, these long-lived heaters should provide you and your pet with years of use.

MINI COMPACT FLUORESCENT LAMPS - 13 WATTS

REPTISUN® MINI COMPACT FLUORESCENT LAMPS

The ReptiSun® Mini Compact Fluorescent Lamps use a special UVB transmitting quartz glass for maximum UVB penetration. Cool burning mini compact fluorescent bulbs screw into standard threaded sockets, eliminating the need for a separate ballast. Lamp can be oriented either vertically or horizontally in your reptile hood or clamp lamp fixture. UVB emissions help prevent or reverse metabolic bone disease and UVA increases feeding, mating, and other natural behaviors.

UVB FOR REPTILES

What Is UVB?

- UVB is part of the sun's natural light spectrum. Most reptiles require exposure to UVB to produce vitamin D<sub>3</sub>, which is essential for them to use the calcium from their diet. The sun provides UVB in nature, however, in your home you will need to provide UVB by using specialty lighting designed for reptiles.

What is the UV Index (UVI)?

- The UV Index (UVI) is a measure of UV radiation. In this Index, the wavelengths measured are those that contribute most to a reptile's ability to manufacture their own vitamin D<sub>3</sub>. This is important because not all UVB wavelengths are equal in their ability to promote vitamin D<sub>3</sub> synthesis.

What are Ferguson Zones?

- Dr. Ferguson, a renowned herpetologist and researcher, observed the daytime activities of many different reptile species and recorded the UV Index they were found in. Over time and with the contributions of many other dedicated researchers, these observations and recordings have been used to create the "Ferguson Zones" we use today.

What Zone Should My Animal Have?

- Every habitat should provide a photo gradient with zones that go all the way down to 0 UVI, which allows animals to photo-regulate, or control their exposure to UVB. The upper zone limit should be based on your animal's unique natural basking behavior.

How to use these charts:

- Determine what zone best describes your pet.
- Consider the size of your enclosure. These measurements should be taken from the face of the lamp to the basking site.
- Choose a lamp that can provide the correct zone at your pet's basking site.
- Remember to make sure that there is a gradient of light all the way down to "0" UVI allowing your pet to retreat.
- Keep in mind that some reflectors may increase a lamp's output and screens may reduce the UVB that reaches your pet. To know precise UVI, you can use a UV Index Meter (ST-7).

ANGER	>7	Danger - No animals should be in this zone

TURTLE HUT

If you want the look of a natural log hiding place for your reptiles with the convenience, strength, and washability of ceramic, then Zoo Med's Turtle Hut is for you. Inert material means it won't mold and is easy to sterilize. It can be submerged in water for aquatic turtles, newts, and even shy fish or used on dry land for any species of reptile or amphibian.

In a continuing effort to reduce our reliance on fossil polymers, we converted 90% of our resin products to plant-based resin or ceramic.

TURTLE LEAF LITTER

Recreate the natural habitat of many aquatic turtles with Zoo Med's Turtle Leaf Litter. Sunken leaves can also provide hiding and foraging areas for turtles who may tear up and eat these non-toxic leaves.

Reptile Supplementation

Feeding a balanced diet to pet reptiles and amphibians can be challenging, especially regarding micronutrients (i.e., vitamins and minerals). Each dietary item is unique and does not provide the same nutrients as one another. Therefore, we recommend feeding a varied diet that allows foods to complement each other and help fill nutritional gaps. While this strategy is helpful, it is not a perfect solution. Compared to a reptile's wild diet, many commercially available insects, greens, and vegetables are deficient in micronutrients, especially calcium. Vitamin and mineral supplements, like ReptiVite™ and ReptiCalcium® are needed to balance the diet sufficiently.

These supplements are available with and without added vitamin D3. Currently, there is no prescribed rule for which animals need additional vitamin D3 in their diet, so supplement recommendations often differ among experts. Here are some example guidelines keepers can follow:

ReptiCalcium® without D3 complemented with ReptiVite™ with D3:

- Diurnal animals (active during the day) housed indoors with adequate UVB exposure
- Crepuscular animals (active at dawn and dusk) housed indoors with adequate UVB exposure

ReptiCalcium® with D3 complemented with ReptiVite™ without D3:

- Crepuscular animals (active at dawn and dusk) without UVB exposure. Most reptiles benefit from UVB exposure, research your animal's needs before deciding to omit UVB.

ReptiCalcium® without D3 complemented with ReptiVite™ without D3:

- Animals housed outdoors with access to unfiltered sunlight
- Reptiles that eat whole vertebrate prey

For information on supplement frequency and dosing, follow the instructions on the product's packaging.

With Repti Calcium®, you can take comfort in knowing that your reptiles are getting a highly bioavailable source of calcium carbonate that is free of harmful impurities.

DIAMOND DOVE
Geopelia cuneata

Sarah B. is a licensed Veterinary Technician that breeds diamond doves (Geopelia cuneata). She shared with us her story of how Zoo Med's Avian Electrolytes revived one of her chicks:

"Typically parents raise their own chicks, but every so often a parent will kick a chick out too early and I have to rear them by hand. This season, one particular chick was pushed out too early and was so weak, it wouldn't eat and just slumped over when I tried to pick it up. Attempts to hand feed made no difference and I was convinced at that point the chick wouldn't make it. Then I remembered, I had samples of Zoo Med's Avian Electrolytes. I hadn't used it before, but as a last-ditch effort to save the chick, I added it to its water. Within 2 days of offering the electrolytes, he was at full health again! Within 2 weeks he was ready to be sold to his new home, and I'm fully convinced that if it wasn't for the Avian Electrolytes I had on hand, that baby wouldn't have made it. I now have Avian Electrolyte as a staple in my medicine box. I really like that the Avian Electrolytes have no fat-soluble vitamins in them because as a Vet Tech, I've seen many cases of over-supplementation of fat-soluble vitamins. I also love that the Avian Electrolytes has probiotics because I feel that's an ingredient lacking in the industry."
